

The 2034 fleet

71 vehicles / Campaign transport and tactical arrivals.

FROM A $90 BICYCLE TO A TROOP TRANSPORT

Civilian vehicles do most of the work. Faction identity comes from the model, condition, and occasional official livery - with broad access in the test sandbox.

Yardbird Bicycle

Halcyon H1

Lastlight Prison Bus

Aegis Armored TRC

Two-Wheelers

14 models / 1-2 units

Passenger Cars

21 models / 1-4 units

Utility Vehicles

15 models / 1-7 units

Heavy Transports

21 models / 1-12 units

Prices and upkeep are the first balance pass. Flagship abilities are explicit. Luxury prices do not grant hidden combat bonuses.

How the fleet works

Shared rules for every model in this guide.

Seats include the driver

A four-seat car moves four of your units in total. Every moving vehicle needs one actual unit to drive or ride it; no free extra driver is created.

Travel uses road distance per turn

The movement number is campaign distance, not real-world mph. A convoy moves at the pace of its slowest vehicle. Splitting a convoy can preserve the speed of its faster group.

Heavy Transports carry all freight

Only this class can load campaign resources. Cargo is counted in abstract resource slots. Passenger capacity and cargo capacity are separate, simultaneously usable limits. Independent cash trucks and prison carriers use dedicated manifests instead of general freight.

Real seats, realistic compromises

Pickup beds are not troop seats. The Shortbox 11 has two cab seats and 24 cargo slots. The Shuttle Twelve has twelve seats but just two cargo slots.

Parked vehicles and cover

These are arrival vehicles with parked physical footprints. Two-wheelers provide no vehicle cover. No turrets, mounted guns, hidden unit armor, or vehicle-driven outfit changes are added.

Everything is available in the sandbox

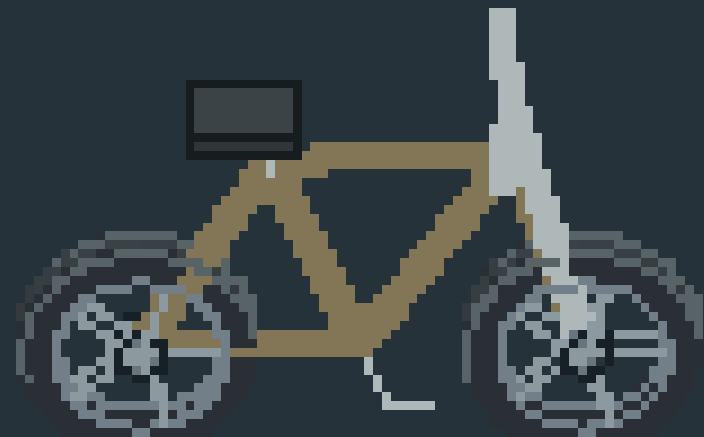

All 71 models are unlocked. The faction lists are suggestions, not restrictions. The current sandbox convoy builder carries the five attacking units; defenders occupy the existing objective.

2034, with intentional older vehicles

Modern vehicles have lower glass, sculpted bodywork and contemporary lighting. Heritage cars and scavenged transports remain where they suit the faction. Fuel, charging and repair interfaces are later systems. Flagship abilities are playable in Encounter Lab; campaign event generation is not connected yet.
